Not illustrated. 1820 Excerpt: . . . the people are not habitually free from civil and ecclesiastical tyrants that they are disposed to exercise tyranny themselves. Habitual freedom produces effects directly the reverse in every particular. For a proof of this, look into America, or if that be too much trouble, look into human nature with the eyes of common sense. --Joel Barlom. (c) Whether a representation shall sit one, two, or three, or more years, it U the business of the electors to determine; for those who have power to delegate, must possess also the power of delegating it for what period of time they choose, as far as it may affect themselves. U is a matter of opinion, which ought to be regulated by the principle, that as all delegated power may be Abused, the shortest period prescribed by general convenience is the best adapted for general security. --Wooler. (i) If...
